1. Introduction

Entrepreneurial Intention is the first step for starting the process of Entrepreneurship, which cover up to the end point of sequence. Entrepreneurial Intention plays a vital role to provide direction in the Entrepreneurship development of the country. It acts as a strong and important pillar for the economic prosperity of a country as it leads to generation of employment, contribution and circulation of national income, rural development, industrialization, technological development, economical development and export promotion etc. In India, various initiatives and programmes have been taken by the government from time to time for entrepreneurship development in the country which represents the intention of government. Due to these importances of Entrepreneurship, it has attracted the attention of policymakers in India.

So that way, for understanding Entrepreneurial Intention, it is essential to give focus on Entrepreneurship. The business person with his vision and capacity to bear chance can change the financial scene of the country to future. They assume a critical part in starting and supporting the course of financial improvement of a country. The point of an enterprising advancement program is to energize an individual for taking on business as a vocation and to make him ready to distinguish the valuable open doors effectively for new pursuits.

The Indian government has also instigated some
